The Temagami Community Foundation has accomplished much since its creation in 2001. It remains the only community foundation in North America founded as a partnership among Aboriginal and other community members, including seasonal residents. The objective of the Temagami Community Foundation ("TCF") is to promote the well-being of all members of the Temagami community by advocating environmental stewardship and awareness; supporting community arts and culture; honouring First Nation heritage; and fostering sustainable community economic development. Since its founding, the TCF has granted $162,000 into the community, and is well on its way to being recognized as a community leader in supporting these goals. "In a relatively short time, the Foundation has established strong roots, and has the potential to become a very important institution in our community," said Walter Ross, immediate past chair of the TCF Board and a former senior partner in the Toronto office of the international accounting firm, Ernst & Young.

Marvyn Morrison presents a check to TCF treasurer, Vickie Calverley

To solidify the TCF as the organization that connects donors to community needs and to further strengthen its role as a convener for important issues, the TCF Board created the "Council of 100" at its March 29th Annual Meeting in Temagami. "The goal of the Council of 100 is to assemble 100 interested donors from all sectors of the Temagami community who will each pledge $5,000 to the TCF endowment fund," said Kim Krech, Co-Chair of the TCF Board and Office Manager at Temagami Marine. "The endowment fund will enable the Foundation to build on its success and be a vital community asset for future generations."

The $500,000 raised through the Council of 100 will permanently endow the operation costs of the TCF, providing a base from which to expand its role as convener, collaborator, and endowment builder for the benefit of the entire Temagami Community. The endowment will enable the TCF to dig deeper into critical community issues; inform stakeholders, friends, and neighbors about emerging social, environmental, cultural and economic needs; form partnerships with existing and new coalitions; and support donors in fulfilling their philanthropic goals of supporting this unique community.

Endorsing these sentiments, Marvyn Morrison, a recently returned Temagami resident who attended the TCF Annual Meeting in March, became the first to join the Council of 100 with his pledge of $5000. "I see this as an investment in the future of the town of Temagami. I can think of no better or far-reaching way to positively impact our community than by becoming a member of the Council of 100 and supporting the Temagami Community Foundation," said Mr. Morrison.

"The Council of 100 is a great idea," said Vicki Grant, former chair of the Foundation and Assistant Negotiator and Office Manager for the TFN Negotiating Unit. "It will provide not only economic support, but also moral support, encouragement and leadership to the Foundation and, in turn, to all facets of our community. The Council of 100 is a natural extension of the goals of the Foundation. The Council will ideally reflect the rich tapestry of our community and enhance our ability to realize our vision of creating an inclusive, healthy, and productive place to live, work and play."

Since Mr. Morrison's pledge, news about the Council of 100 has spread through the community, with new Council of 100 members stepping forward. We invite all members of the Temagami community to consider this opportunity to be a community leader and life-long member of the TCF. To join the Council of 100 or to receive additional information about the Temagami Community Foundation and its giving opportunities, please call or email the TCF office.

Our Recent Grantees by Kim Krech

This year we are proud to be able to support four projects that represent the diversity of our community. Thank you to the community of Temagami for giving us the opportunity to be a part of your cultures, heritage, arts and grass root projects.

"A Different World"

A project of the Temagami Arts, Culture & Heritage Committee

"A Different World" is a multimedia exhibit designed for the boxcars at the Temagami Train Station. Forty photographs from private collections on Bear Island and in Temagami, dating from the 1880's to the 1940s, will be enlarged onto cotton rag watercolour paper, and displayed with descriptions in English, French and Anishnabai. Stories from tape-recorded interviews and personal recollections of Teme-Augama Anishnabai elders, and seniors from Temagami, will round out the exhibit, giving a first-person account of a community in transition, the Temagami of a century ago. The exhibit will take place in 2009.

2008 Annual Traditional Pow Wow

The Pow Wow is an annual gathering that celebrates and honours Anishnabai culture and spirit, and fosters understanding and unity among communities and neighbours. The Temagami First Nation and the Municipality of Temagami contribute significantly to the Pow Wow's success, as does a small army of volunteers from both communities. The Pow Wow will be held this year on August 9th and 10th at the Temagami Arena Ball Park, and all are welcome.

The Temagami Community Foundation strives to make a visible and lasting difference in our community through a granting program that is balanced, flexible, creative and responsive. If you or your organization would like to apply for a grant from the Foundation, please contact our office.
Next grant application deadline: August 15, 2008.

The TCF will consider projects that:

- Meet an obvious community need within our Mission
- Promote community discussion & dialogue
- Foster shared responsibility and common well-being
- Involve volunteers
- Create excitement in the community

The TCF will not fund:

- Individuals for personal support
- Capital Campaigns
- Operating deficits
- Political or religious activities
- Fundraising dinners or event sponsorships

Eric Cummings receives Lorne Pacey Young Volunteers Award

This year's recipient of the Lorne Pacey Young Volunteers Award is Eric Cummings. The Temagami Lions Club nominated Eric for the award. Eric has not only volunteered for the Lions since 2004, but has also volunteered at the Tracy & Kimmy Memorial baseball tournament, washed dishes for the Catholic Women's League, helped with the Ducks Unlimited dinner and auction, and barbecued and cleaned up for the Fire Department's Education weekend. Eric loves living in Temagami and enjoys all outdoor activities, especially kayaking, baseball, fishing, camping, and hunting. He hopes to become a Conservation Officer in the future.

The Lorne Pacey Young Volunteers Award was instituted in 2006 to recognize youth that volunteer in their community. Mr. Pacey, a founding TCF board member, proposed the award because he felt that it was important to inspire youth to continue their education and volunteer efforts in the community. It is fitting that the award is named after a person who himself contributed so much to the TCF and to the Temagami community during his lifetime.

Congratulations, Eric, and thank you for your contributions to our community!

Nastawgan Trails Inc.

The Nastawgan Trails was incorporated in 2000 to plan, establish, maintain and promote a year-round non-motorized trail network. Combined with 2400 kms of interconnected canoe routes, these trails help make the Temagami/Temiskaming area a world-class recreation destination. This year's project will create a trail that forms a loop between Grand Campment Bay and Nagle Bay on the Lake Temiskaming shoreline. This loop trail will be accessed at the end of the Rabbit Lake Road.

We are once again running the Annual Art Camp with Bettina Schuller and the many volunteers that help run such a successful program each year.

2008 Report and Comments from the Co-Chairs on Three Days of Meetings

March 27 - The Temagami Community Foundation (TCF) convened the second Community Sustainable Economic Development roundtable discussion at the Temagami Shores Inn & Resort. Representatives of the Temagami First Nation, the Teme-Agama Anishnabai, the Municipality of Temagami, and seasonal residents and the TCF again met to compare notes and report progress on initiatives undertaken and those being sustained, and to consider means by which commonality of purpose might be identified and find further expression.

*Kirk Smith and Walter Ross receiving gift of TCF paddle from

March 28 - The TCF Board of Directors met Friday at the Smoothwater Lodge. As sunny as it was outside, the mood inside was even brighter. While recognizing the term expirations of Mr. Kirk Smith and Mr. Walter Ross was hard and sad for us all, the respect for and appreciation of their efforts and successes as founding directors were a source of joy, pride, and celebration. They have each contributed mightily and have left indelible evidence of the wisdom and commitment that guided their and the fledgling TCF's efforts. Mr. Spencer Johnson has chosen not to stand for reappointment as participating youth director, and Ms. Carol Imbeau, having moved to New Liskeard, submitted her resignation from the Board. Both will be missed. Mr. Johnson was in attendance and stood to accept the Board's appreciation for his contributions as an inaugural member of the Youth Action Committee. Ms. Vickie Calverley, Ms. Cathy Dwyer-Smith, Ms. Pam Morgan, and Ms. Ursula Kilbridge were then warmly greeted as new members of the Board of Directors. It is clear that they and their efforts will be much in evidence in their upcoming terms.

Mr. Marvyn Morrison, Mr. Joe Katt, and Ms. Judy Gouin provided an eloquent overview of work being done by the Arts, Culture and Heritage Committee. The Grants Committee reported the successful funding of the sixth annual Arts Camp to be conducted at Bear Island and directed by Bettina Schuller during the first week of July.

March 29 - A crystal clear Saturday shone on the Annual General Meeting of the TCF, again at the Smoothwater Lodge – we thank Francis Boyes and Karen Coleman for providing conditions that went well beyond hospitable. Ms. Kim Krech, much to the delight of the entire Board, took on the mantle of Foundation Co-Chair. The meeting concluded with Mr. Walter Ross's appointment as an honorary member of the Board of Directors.

As reported elsewhere in this Newsletter, since its inception six years ago, the Foundation has made $162,000 of grants to worthy community projects. Our 22 grant recipients have represented and benefited Temagami substantially. The Temagami Community Foundations is proud of its ability to attract and promote thoughtful and consequential grant proposals, and of its role in supporting varied and meaningful community initiatives and convening activities. In its effort to secure the long-term sustainability of the TCF, the launch of the Council of 100 was enthusiastically decided upon by the Board of Directors, and announced at the Annual General Meeting (please see page 1 of this Newsletter). We are confident that this unique foundation is in only its early years of making the kinds of contribution to the Temagami community that our mission demands.

The effectiveness and efficiency of these meetings were in no small part due to the efforts and organization of Ms. Lorie Hunter and Ms. Shanna McFarland. Ms. Hunter has recently relinquished her position as our Executive Coordinator as she moves on to the Municipal Council of Temagami. She has been stalwart in her contributions to the Foundation in its formative stage. The TCF is deeply indebted to her for her years of concern and contributions! Ms. McFarland stepped in on very short notice and took command of the reins in orchestrating a most successful series of annual meetings. The Board joins the two of us in expressing its thanks and appreciation of their coordinated work.

Respectfully,

Dick Lewis and Walter Ross
Co-Chairs of the Temagami Community Foundation

Finance and Investment Report for 2007

The past year has been a busy one for the Temagami Community Foundation and our most ambitious to date. Our financial statements show an increase in total assets to $185,000 from $154,000, still modest compared to most community foundations.

But the real story for 2007, however, was the substantial increase in activities supported during the year, specifically the Angèle Project and the many related ancillary events. From a number of generous donors the Foundation raised $43,000, including $14,000 from the Frog's Breath Foundation. Our partner, the Kennedy Gallery in North Bay, raised an additional $40,000 from the Ontario Trillium Foundation. The Project was very successful and the refurbished rail boxcars just north of the Train Station remain a community asset available for future arts, culture and heritage programming. Total grants made by the Foundation to date increased by $57,000 in 2007 bringing the cumulative grants made since inception to $162,000.

These grants are made possible by the growing group of supporters listed in this newsletter. Many thanks to all of you. We are particularly grateful for a $50,000 grant from Temfund, $38,000 of which was received in 2007. We welcome all donations, large and small. Memorial contributions and bequests can be made to the Foundation as can donations of securities. For Canadian donors of securities that have appreciated in value there is a complete exemption from capital gains taxes, a substantial incentive. We would be pleased to assist anyone with the tax planning around such donations.

The Foundation is a registered Canadian charitable foundation. We have equivalent charitable status in the United States thereby making all donations tax deductible. Our financial statements have been audited by KPMG, Chartered Accountants, and are available on request.

We commit to being good stewards of all assets entrusted to us and are confident that our funds are prudently invested as part of the Community Foundations of Canada/Bank of Montreal "Supporting your Community" program. Investment returns were modest in 2007 reflecting difficult market conditions. Nevertheless our average return for the past two years has been 7% per annum.

The Temagami Community Foundation is now well established in Temagami. It has set strong roots. Please continue to nourish them.

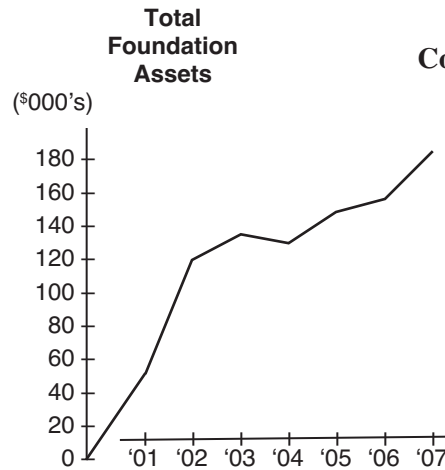

Walter Ross FCA,

Profiling Our Donors

*Marvyn Morrison,
Council of 100
member*

by Lila Cleminshaw

Marvyn Morrison, the inaugural member of the TCF's new Council of 100, has a long family connection to Temagami. He can trace his lineage, both native and non-native, back many generations in Temagami, Temiskaming, and north to James Bay. Marvyn was born in 1948, one of 6 children. He met his future wife, Evelyn Clark, while in high school in New Liskeard. They married in 1972 while he was studying engineering-geology at the University of Toronto.

Marvyn and Evelyn had always intended to move back north. They even considered buying the Temagami Canoe Company from Bill Smith, but decided that Marvyn should finish his degree first. Then, due to a slowed economy, they ended up working in Toronto. Their daughter, Caitlin, was born in 1984. The family grew more comfortable in Toronto, and Evelyn's early medical needs made it necessary for them to stay. In 2004, Evelyn died of cancer. Marvyn stayed in Toronto for two years afterwards, at which time he decided that it was time for him to move back to Temagami.

Since returning to Temagami, Marvyn has contributed his civil engineering experience to the Municipality, serving on the Planning Advisory Committee, the Committee of Adjustment, and the Public Works Committee. He also serves on the board of Nastawgan Trails, is technical advisor to TREC North, and is vice-chair of the Arts, Culture, and Heritage Committee. He is enjoying life in Temagami immensely.

Marvyn was introduced to the TCF at its October board meeting. He was impressed that the Foundation's plans complemented his vision for Temagami that he had even in his youth – that Temagami should be self-sustaining with a stable economy to support the community, and that seeking employment should never be a reason to leave. Marvyn consults with Caitlin, who graduated recently from Trent University with a degree in Native Studies and Environmental Studies, when he is considering any donations. Their first donation to the TCF, which was in Evelyn's honor on the anniversary of her death, was to fund this summer's Arts Camp.

Part of Marvyn's impetus for joining the Council of 100 was the simplicity of 100 people each giving a portion of a large goal. He hopes that his donation will inspire others to follow suit. He said that, since his wife's death, he has come to understand her final advice: "Live each day." He intends to live each day to its fullest and share what he is able to give. Marvyn sees the donation as an investment in the future of the town, and by extension, an investment in his own future as well. Thank you, Marvyn, for your generosity to the Temagami community.

Profiling Our Board Members

Dick Lewis

by Lila Cleminshaw

Dick Lewis' family history on the lake dates back to his grandfather, a founder of Camp Wabun. Dick first arrived on Garden Island in 1945, at 8 months old. He later spent summers as a Wabun camper and staff, and became Wabun's director in 1976. Dick met his wife, Marg, in college, and they married in 1970. Marg began working at Wabun in 1976 and was instrumental in implementing the camp's decision to open to girls in 1977. Last year, Wabun celebrated its 75th anniversary with 4 generations of campers represented.

The Lewis' relationship with Lake Temagami is unique, as Americans running a seasonal business (Wabun) on the lake, who also lived year-round on the lake for four years. The decision to become year-round residents came after one of Dick's extremely busy days as headmaster of Stowe School in Vermont. Marg greeted him with son Jason screaming in her arms, saying, "Jason look, Uncle Daddy's home for a visit!" The following year, Dick, Marg, Jason (3 yrs old), and Jessica (5 months old) moved to Garden Island.

Dick credits the time on Temagami – "family 24/7" – with the family's close relationship with one another. Dick and Marg both taught on Bear Island, and Dick trapped with Mac McKenzie, served on the town planning board, and helped with the founding of the Lake Temagami Permanent Residents Association (LaTemPRA). He also served on a delegation from Bear Island that not only saved the Bear Island School from closing, but also secured one million dollars to build the Laura MacKenzie Learning Center. He credits the friendships of people such as Bill Metcalf, Bill Twain, Bob Farr, and Dick and Vicki Grant with safeguarding and making the family feel part of the community.

*3rd and 4th generation of Lewis' with
Camp Wabun: Jason, Jessica, Dick and Marg*

The family returned to the States in 1983. Five years ago, Marg and Jess were able to spend a year long sabbatical on the lake. As of this year, both Dick and Marg have retired from teaching and plan to spend more time on Lake Temagami.

Dick is especially proud of his children, who, he said, "humble him." Jason is "twice the teacher I would ever have the ambition to be," he said, and Jessica is "a walking social conscience" who will be leaving this summer to work for a wilderness program for orphans in Kyrgyzstan. Dick values the family's four-generation connection with both the lake and the educational and experiential purposes of canoe-tripping camps.

For Dick, working with the TCF is picking up where he left off in 1983. He feels that the TCF is gaining momentum as the community gains understanding of the opportunities it represents. Dick would like the TCF to be the agent in the community that is, to quote a student of his, "smart in its' heart and in its' brain at the same time."

The Angele Project – A great success by Cathy Dwyer-Smith

*Albert Lalonde, grandson of Grey Owl and Angele.
By Arlington Hoffman*

Albert tried to look serious and stern, like Grey Owl, for this portrait, but "it was really hard!" he said with a laugh.

The Angele Egwuna Project, an art exhibition displayed last summer in Temagami, was a partnership between the W.K.P. Kennedy Gallery in North Bay and the TCF. Angele Egwuna was an Ojibwa woman of the Teme-Augama Anishnabi. She married Englishman Archie Belaney, who later became "Grey Owl," the outstanding author, conservationist and native advocate. Archie's time with Angele and the Teme-Augama Anishnabi greatly influenced his future as Grey Owl.

The art exhibition was based on Angele's life and marriage, as well as the lives of her daughter Agnes and Agnes' family. Usually, a community art show will evoke discussion, participation, and pride.

This project achieved all of this and more:

- a new and lasting relationship among the W.K.P. Kennedy Gallery, the TCF and the people of Temagami;
- the creation of five seasonal jobs;
- the establishment of a new arts facility and the new Arts, Culture and Heritage Committee.
- more than $80,000 raised from the Trillium and Frog's Breath Foundations and from private donations. The budget was scrupulously monitored and the project came in within budget;
- attendance by more than 6000 people who toured the exhibition and signed the guest book;
- unique and entertaining community events held in Temagami and on Bear Island. Some events, like story telling, are continuing with seniors and elders within the community.

• collaboration between volunteers from Bear Island and Temagami. The "co-community" volunteer involvement has been carried on in the new Arts Committee.

Angele's grandson, Albert Lalonde died suddenly and unexpectedly in a tragic accident on the lake in August. In light of that great sadness, perhaps the most poignant achievement of the The Angele Egwuna Project was safeguarding his life-long dream of celebrating his grandmother, and ensuring that her story would be told and brought to the people. This was splendidly accomplished in the Temagami Box Cars. Clearly, life is precious, and it is important to step back, gain perspective, and enjoy successes. Angele's successes were many, and not generally recognized, until this magnificent exhibit and testimony made them visible to us all. We owe Albert and his family a great debt of gratitude for their combined efforts to help us see the excellence in our midst.

We would like to acknowledge all of our donors and express our appreciation for investing in the Foundation, which is an investment in our community.
